We lost a good deal of sleep with her. Finally we took her to the doctor and he treated her several weeks, but it kept spreading until we had to keep her little hands tied and dress and bandage them several times a day, they were so sore, and we used everything we could hear of for ecrems. Finally our druggist told for eczema. Finally our druggist told us about Saxo Salve. We tried it and one and a half tubes has entirely cured her. The four occupants of the carriage were thrown out in a heap and all received more or less serious injuries. Miss Emily Copp, daughter of Beiton A. Copp of Groton, was the most seriously injured and was unconscious several hours following the accident. Miss Kate Copp, her aunt, had one arm fractured above the elbow, a dislocated shoulder, and was severely bruised about the body. daughter of Belton A. Copp of Groton, was the most seriously injured and was unconscious several hours following the accident. Miss Kate Copp, her aunt, had one arm fractured above the elbow, a dislocated shoulder, and was severely bruised about the body. Mr. Smith, who was driving, suffered a broken nose, cuts on his face, and extensive bruises. Mrs. Smith's shoulder was injured when she struck the ground and her bruises, too, were extensive. The carriage was demolished but the horse was not hurt.

Trees Interrupted the View The collision occurred at Avery's express car of the Norwich & west-erly Traction company, southbound, in charge of Motorman George Murphy and Conductor Joseph Welles, was coming down the track at a good speed and at the same time Mr. Smith was driving down the Norwich highway toward the trolley road. Trees cut off the view of the trolley tracks, Mr. Smith said, Thursday afternoon, after the accident, and he did not see the car until almost on the crossing. Then a desperate effort was made to spur the horse on and get over in safety.

AT THE AUDITORIUM.

Good Vaudeville and Motion Pictures

A programme of vaudeville and me-tion pictures of higher than ordinary quality is billed for the last three days of the week at the Auditorium, and the new numbers made a pleasing impres-sion with Thursday's audiences. A contortionist with a great variety of novel stunts is Chester Kingston, who styles himself the Flexible Chinaman. The Chinaman ties himself into the most impossible of knots and the weirdest of poses. Moss and Frye, a colored couple, hand out a great line of comedy and present some clever jokes and songs. The Sharps have a com-edy number which makes a hit, including some good singing and instru-mental selections. Their act goes un-der the title of The Village Band. On Thursday a 101 Blson film, The Gambler and the Girl, was a feature number. Other good motion pictures complete the bill.
